

IMAGINE :

Imagine human beings are fulfilled with great joy and gratitude. They live in contact with creation and in deep perception of all that lives. They have found the sacredness of life anew. They recognize the miracle of plants, rivers and stars. They have rediscovered the mystery of the world and the pure joy of life, Ananda. Their focus is no longer limited to themselves, but they care for this wonderful creation with all its beings. They have become one with the great family of life. In reunification with life they have created sculptures and built places to worship and praise the infinite universe. No trace of a punishing God; no judgment and no damnation darken their lives anymore, for they have arrived in the eternity of love.
